This text is for question 22 to 24

No matter what the season, tea can be a tasty beverage since it can be served iced or hot. Tea is an aromatic beverage commonly prepared by pouring hot or boiling water over cured leaves of the Camellia Sinensis, an evergreen shrub native to Asia.

Researchers have claimed that drinking tea can reduce the chances of developing type 2 diabetes by up to 25 per cent if three or four cups are consumed a day. It is thought that antioxidants and magnesium compounds help to keep weight down. Drinking one cup of tea a day could also help to reduce the risk of ovarian cancer, studies have suggested. Women who drink a single cup every day are 10 per cent less likely to develop the disease than those who never drink tea, research last year found.

Green tea is considered to have the most health benefits of any type of tea. Studies have found that it is a preventive for heart disease and cancer, an acne cure and even a mouthwash. It is also thought to protect us from glaucoma and other eye diseases. The tea, full of antioxidants, can also help you lose weight, experts claim.

However, because green tea naturally contains a small amount of caffeine, it is unsuitable for people with caffeine sensitivity, and should not be drunk in large quantities by women who are pregnant or breastfeeding

Black tea is also thought to have similar negative elements. Mainly, the caffeine in it is believed to contribute to the stiffening of arteries. However, the amount of caffeine is small and makes tea a healthier alternative to coffee.

22. Why is water healthier than tea?
- A. It cleans the heart.
  - B. It cures eye disease.
  - C. It is beneficial for skin.
  - D. Millions of people like it.
  - E. Pregnant women can drink it.
23. Why is the main reason of the disadvantage of black tea?
- A. It cures ovarian cancer.
  - B. It can hydrate the skin.
  - C. It is best served cold.
  - D. It reduces diabetes.
  - E. It can clot arteries.

24. Black tea is also thought to have similar negative elements. Mainly, the caffeine in it is believed to contribute to the stiffening of arteries. (Paragraph 4)
What is the closest meaning of the underlined word?
- A. Thickening.
  - B. Hardening.

This text is for question 28 to 30

Arriving at some cruise terminals can be overwhelming, and the crowds may at first seem chaotic. In most cases, cruise lines or port authorities provide sufficient staff to direct passengers to where they need to go, but sometimes you'll encounter lines if arriving at a peak boarding time. Cruise line shore side staff are almost always milling about to point you in the right direction, and they're easily recognizable in official-looking uniforms with name tags and, often, a clipboard. Cruise lines prefer to stagger passenger boarding and have plans for that.

Baggage handlers work for the port, not the cruise line. And they expect a tip of about $2 per bag.

Make sure you have secured your ship's luggage tags to your locked bags before handing them over. You won't see these bags again until you get to your cabin.

Next you'll pass through airport-style security, but you usually don't have to take off your belt or shoes.

During check-in, you'll need the cruise documents you were sent (and which you probably completed online ahead of time) along with your proof of citizenship and credit card to cover onboard charges.

Most cruise lines take your picture as you check in.

You're then issued a boarding card (or sometimes a bracelet) that usually also doubles as your stateroom key and shipboard charge card.

Make sure you are checked in for your cruise at least 90 minutes before departure; if you arrive late, you could be denied boarding because of U.S. government security regulations.

You may be issued a number or allowed to board immediately.

You'll normally be asked to stop for a souvenir photograph before you board.

Boarding usually starts several hours before departure but almost always closes an hour before departure.

28. What is the purpose of the text?
- A. To avoid long queue when boading on a ship.
  - B. To explain about the boarding pass.
  - C. To inform how to deny a boarding card.
  - D. To describe the passing airport-style security.

E. To tell how to get handling passengers' baggage.

29. What do you have to do to get a boarding card?

- A. Lining to take picture.
- B. Waiting for departure.
- C. Stopping for souvenir.
- D. Handling some luggage.
- E. Scanning your document.

30. You have to secure your luggage before you hand them ... you will not see those bags again until you get to your cabin.

- A. unless
- B. because
- C. although
- D. moreover
- E. therefore

Petra, originally known as Raqmu or Rose city, is an ancient city located in Jordan. Established possibly in 312 BC, served as the capital of Arab Nabeteans. Petra is also known as Rose city because of the color of stone due to the color of the stone out of which it is carved and used in its structures, as an award winning writer once describe it as "one of the most precious cultural properties of man's cultural heritage". The city is famous for its rock-cut architecture and water conduit system. Petra is a symbol of Jordan, as well as Jordan's most-visited tourist attraction.

Situated between the Red Sea and the Dead Sea and inhabited since prehistoric times, the rock-cut capital city of the Nabateans, became during Hellenistic and Roman times a major caravan centre for the incense of Arabia, the silks of China and the spices of India, a crossroads between Arabia, Egypt and Syria-Phoenicia. Petra is half-built, half-carved into the rock, and is surrounded by mountains riddled with passages and gorges. An ingenious water management system allowed extensive settlement of an essentially arid area during the Nabataean, Roman and Byzantine periods. It is one of the world's richest and largest archaeological sites set in a dominating red sandstone landscape.

The Outstanding Universal Value of Petra resides in the vast extent of elaborate tomb and temple architecture; religious high places; the remnant channels, tunnels and diversion dams that combined with a vast network of cisterns and reservoirs which controlled and conserved seasonal rains, and the extensive archaeological remains including of copper mining, temples, churches and other public buildings. The fusion of Hellenistic architectural facades with traditional Nabataean rock-cut temple/tombs including the Khasneh, the Urn Tomb, the Palace Tomb, the Corinthian Tomb and the Deir ("monastery") represents a unique artistic achievement and an outstanding architectural ensemble of the first centuries BC to AD. The varied archaeological remains and architectural monuments from prehistoric times to the medieval periods bear exceptional testimony to the now lost civilisations which succeeded each other at the site.

31. What is the purpose of the text?
- A. To compliment about Petra.
  - B. To tell the history of Petra.
  - C. To persuade people to visit Petra.
  - D. To describe Jordan especially Petra.
  - E. To analyze the beautiful architecture of Petra.
32. What does paragraph one mainly talk about?
- A. The beauty of Jordan.
  - B. The famous place in Petra.
  - C. The original name of Petra.
  - D. The greatest architecture in Jordan.
  - E. The most-visited tourist spot in Jordan.
33. Which statement is correct according to the text?
- A. Petra has also been recognized as Rose city.
  - B. Petra is also being recognized as Rose city.
  - C. Petra will also be recognized as Rose city.
  - D. Petra was also recognized as Rose city.
  - E. Petra is also recognized as Rose city.

THE LEGEND OF TELAGA WARNA

Long long ago, there was a kingdom in West Java. The kingdom was ruled by a king named His Majesty Prabu.

Prabu was a kind and wise king. But it was a pity that Prabu and his queen hadn't got any children. The queen often cried. That was why Prabu went to the jungle. There he prayed to God every day, begging for a child.

A few months later, the queen got pregnant. Nine months later, a princess was born. Prabu and Queen loved their beautiful daughter so much. They gave whatever she wanted. It made Princess turn into a very spoiled girl.

One day, the princess celebrated her 17th birthday party. Many people gathered in the palace. Then, Prabu took out a necklace which was made from gold and jewel.

"My beloved daughter, today I give you this necklace. Please, wear this necklace," said Prabu.

"I don't want to wear it! It's ugly!" shouted the princess. Then she threw the necklace. The beautiful necklace was broken. The gold and jewels were spread out on the floor. Everybody couldn't say anything. They never thought that their beloved princess would do that cruel thing. In their silence, people heard the queen crying. Every woman felt sad and began crying, too. Then, everybody was crying. Then, there was a miracle. Earth was crying.

Suddenly, from the underground, a spring emerged. It made a pool of water. Soon, the place became a big lake. The lake finally sank the kingdom.

A survey has revealed that children are often happier with their online lives than they are with reality and I feel this latest phenomenon quite alarming. They say they can be exactly who they want to be – and as soon as something is no longer fun they can simply hit the quit button.

The report – Virtual Lives: It is more than a game, it is your life – shows the attitudes of children today to the internet and includes revealing insights into how they feel when they are on the web. One told researchers: 'It's easier to be who you want to be, because nobody knows you and if you don't like the situation you can just exit and it is over. 'Another said: 'You can say anything online. You can talk to people that you don't normally speak to and you can edit your pictures so you look better. It is as if you are a completely different person.' One in eight young people is in contact with strangers when on the web and often lies about their appearance, age and background.

Psychotherapist Peter Bradley, said that the desire for so many to adopt a different identity online was a cause for concern, because the children were being divorced from reality.

'These findings suggest that children see cyberspace as detachable from the real world. He further warned that children could put themselves or their friends in danger.

I agree that we can't allow cyber worlds to be happier places than our real communities as it will lead to a chaotic situation in future. Letting this happen means that we are creating a generation of young people who are not functioning adequately in our society.' For that reason, parents and school should continuously warn children on safe online behavior.

This text is for question 45 to 47

Snow for most people is a beautiful natural phenomenon but sometimes the snow can be a terrible thing because snow can cause a storm called a Snow storm. Snow storms are storms where large amounts of snow fall accompanied by wind which has a speed of 56 kilometers or more in an hour. A snow storm is one of the symptoms that often occurs in the Polar Front territory or high mountains and the worst in the winter time.

Snow has a smaller density than water in a liquid state (liquid), by a factor of about 10 at temperatures slightly below freezing, and even more in cooler temperatures. Therefore the amount of water that will produce 0.8 inch (2 cm) of rain could produce at least 8 (20 cm) of snow. Two inches of snow (5 cm) is enough to make a serious disruption to transport traffic and schools (because of the difficulty to push and maneuver a school bus on a slippery road).

A snow storm occurs when the warm air and moist air meet the cold air. Masses of warm air and the masses of cold air can reach a diameter of 1000 kilometers. A snow storm occurred after unusually warm weather in the winter. In a snow storm the temperature reached -120 Celsius, the wind speed exceeds 72 k/h, and caused the visibility of less than 150 kilometers.

Some of the countries which can get this phenomenon are Dallas, Atlanta, United States, Seattle, London, Dublin, Canberra, Vancouver and Las Vegas. This amazing natural phenomenon which occurs in the United States during 1888 and 1947 as well as the early and mid-1990s. The snow that fell in 1947 exceeded two feet with drifts and a mound of snow from plowing that reached twelve meters and for months, the temperature did not rise high enough to melt the snow. The 1993 "Superstorm" that manifested as a snow storm in most of the affected area.

45. What is the purpose of the text?
- A. To tell about how snow happened
  - B. To convince about the danger of snowstorm
  - C. To describe about superstorm phenomenon
  - D. To give information about snow and snowstorm
  - E. To describe about snow as the beautiful natural phenomenon

- A. Snow can cause a serious disruption to transport traffic and schools
  - B. Snow in some countries occurs as an amazing natural phenomenon
  - C. Snow usually happens in London, Canberra, Atlanta, Las Vegas, Dubai, Dallas
  - D. Snow becomes snowstorm when the diameter of air masses reach 1000 kilometer
  - E. Snowstorm happens after a very thick snow with the temperature reached -120 Celsius

47. " ... the wind speed exceeds 72 k/j, and caused the views of less than 150 kilometers." The underlined word has a similar meaning to the word...
- A. runs
  - B. beats
  - C. blows
  - D. exists
  - E. passes

In the past, during the Dutch colonial era in Jakarta (formerly Batavia) there lived a silat champion from Rawabelong, called Si Pitung. Together with his group of mysterious gang, he robbed shop proprietors, landlords and alleged henchmen of Dutch rule. Si Pitung committed the crime because he could not stand anymore to see the suffering of the common people, who were oppressed by landlords and by the Netherlands colonizers. During in action, this mysterious gang, covered their heads with sarong clothes, which made them difficult to recognize.

In the morning, this group of mysterious gang put a bag of rice and a bundle of money at the front of the poor houses' doors. This rampant occurrence made the Dutch ruler fury. Knowing that Si Pitung really cared about the poor, the Dutch intimidated Rawabelong inhabitants. Si Pitung bravely fought against the Dutch troops. In the end, Si Pitung was dead from a bullet. Today, a mosque Si Pitung inherited can be seen in Marunda, North Jakarta.
